

Nothing Beats A Woman

and a

Glenwood

for a baking combination

The Range that
"Makes Cooking Easy"

A Glenwood Coal or Gas Range for cooking, and a Glenwood Parlor Stove, Furnace or Boiler for heating means solid comfort and less fuel.

Reynolds &amp; Son, Barre

ST. PATRICK'S NAMESAKE

BY ARTHUR W. BREWSTER

It was St. Patrick's day in the morning. Mrs. Mulcahey dressed her son Pat, eleven years old, in his best suit and put a bit of green ribbon in the buttonhole of his jacket. After mass the O'Rourke children came over to the Mulcaheys to play with little Pat. There were Tommy O'Rourke, seven years old, and Nora, who was nine. They, too, had green ribbons on their breasts, and Mrs. Mulcahey, setting them all down in a row, told them stories of the patron saint of Ireland—how he did away with the slavery of the lower people and how he rescued the country from a false religion and established the true church. She also told them of the wonderful miracles done by St. Patrick and the many people he saved from some impending danger.

Everybody knows that St. Patrick's day falls on the 17th of March and that the 17th of March is near the beginning of spring. In the southern states sometimes it is pretty warm at that time, and the snow, melting farther north, swells the creeks, and the creeks swell the rivers, and occasionally they have what is called an inundation.

It happened that on this St. Patrick's day where these children lived they had an inundation. The O'Rourke children went home from the Mulcaheys about 3 o'clock in the afternoon and found the water, which had not been within half a mile of them in the morning, was now a foot deep all around the house. They thought it lots of fun to hold up their clothes and walk in the water to their front door. Their mother being out at work, Tommy made a raft of some old boards he found floating in the cellar, and then they had a fine time pushing themselves around with a clothes pole.

But the water kept getting deeper and deeper, so that before dark the lower floor of the house was covered with water.

The flood began to look serious to the children, and they wished their mother would come home. But she had been at work during the day at a house built on lower ground than her home, and when the waters came up she was obliged to stay and help the persons living there to move out their effects. So when it came on she had not come home, and by this time a bridge over which she must pass had been washed away, and she was prevented from going farther.

No Nora lit a lamp, and she and Tommy climbed the stairs to the second story to get away from the water. Tommy began to be frightened, but Nora told him that there was no reason to be scared. At any rate, if they were in danger the good saint that Mrs. Mulcahey had been telling them about in the morning would take care of them. But the water kept coming higher and higher, and after awhile they heard something crack below, and the house began to rock. Being of wood, it had been lifted off its foundation and was afloat.

"Mother," said little Pat Mulcahey that night, "we're lucky to be on this high ground."

"Yes, we are. It's dreadful to think of people in the valley."

"I wonder how it is at the O'Rourkes."

"I don't know."

"I'm going out to have a look."

"Don't you go f—" said the mother anxiously.

Pat went down toward the O'Rourkes, but when still some distance from there he was stopped by the flood. In the direction of their home he saw a light slightly rocking, as though it were in a boat. All sorts of articles—boards, furniture and other things that would float—were slowly drifting about. Pat was worried about his two little friends and wished for a boat in which to go and see how they were getting on. But there was no boat at hand.

Presently the light he had seen appeared to be drawing nearer. Pat watched it as it came on, and after awhile he could look into a window. Some person or persons were inside, but the boy could not distinguish who they were. The house drifted to within a hundred feet of him, when it evidently grounded, for it didn't come any nearer. Then Pat heard a child crying.

A large board had floated near Pat, and he resolved to go out to the house. So he got some small pieces of wood for paddles and pulled out. Coming to a second story window, he put in his head.

"Tommy," cried a girl's voice, "we're saved. Here's St. Patrick come to take us to land."

"I'm Pat," said the little rescuer, "but I'm not the saint."

"Oh, Pat is it you," cried Nora, relieved, "and have you come in a boat?"

"No, I've come on a board."

"My gracious goodness! We can't go away on a board."

"It's a big one. Come, Tom, I'll take you first; then I'll come back for Nora."

Tommy looked out of the window and, seeing the flood, drew back, but his sister urged him, and getting on to the plank, Pat pulled him to dry land. Then he returned for Nora and did the same for her.

Scarcely had they left the house when it floated on.

"If you're not St. Patrick," said Nora after reaching terra firma, "but only Pat Mulcahey, I believe the saint sent you to save us anyway."

The children stayed that night at Mrs. Mulcahey's, and when their mother found them there she was delighted.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

At Barre Opera House All This Week, the Winifred St. Claire Co.

Several years ago a little mite of a girl, who lived in an Indiana village, became the talk of the town for her singing and dancing. At every function, on the stage and in private homes, she was the delight of the occasion.

As years came on, this little girl, who grew older and became more seasoned, ventured to New York, the great metropolis, where many fond hopes lie buried under the weight of lack of appreciation.

"Mother," said little Pat Mulcahey that night, "we're lucky to be on this high ground."

"Yes, we are. It's dreadful to think of people in the valley."

"I wonder how it is at the O'Rourkes."

"I don't know."

"I'm going out to have a look."

"Don't you go f—" said the mother anxiously.

Pat went down toward the O'Rourkes, but when still some distance from there he was stopped by the flood. In the direction of their home he saw a light slightly rocking, as though it were in a boat. All sorts of articles—boards, furniture and other things that would float—were slowly drifting about. Pat was worried about his two little friends and wished for a boat in which to go and see how they were getting on. But there was no boat at hand.

Presently the light he had seen appeared to be drawing nearer. Pat watched it as it came on, and after awhile he could look into a window. Some person or persons were inside, but the boy could not distinguish who they were. The house drifted to within a hundred feet of him, when it evidently grounded, for it didn't come any nearer. Then Pat heard a child crying.

A large board had floated near Pat, and he resolved to go out to the house. So he got some small pieces of wood for paddles and pulled out. Coming to a second story window, he put in his head.

"Tommy," cried a girl's voice, "we're saved. Here's St. Patrick come to take us to land."

"I'm Pat," said the little rescuer, "but I'm not the saint."

"Oh, Pat is it you," cried Nora, relieved, "and have you come in a boat?"

"No, I've come on a board."

"My gracious goodness! We can't go away on a board."

"It's a big one. Come, Tom, I'll take you first; then I'll come back for Nora."

Tommy looked out of the window and, seeing the flood, drew back, but his sister urged him, and getting on to the plank, Pat pulled him to dry land. Then he returned for Nora and did the same for her.

Scarcely had they left the house when it floated on.

"If you're not St. Patrick," said Nora after reaching terra firma, "but only Pat Mulcahey, I believe the saint sent you to save us anyway."

The children stayed that night at Mrs. Mulcahey's, and when their mother found them there she was delighted.

It has been said that hard work for a weak, sickly woman is traffic in flesh and blood. It makes little difference whether the field of work is at home or elsewhere; but if every woman in the world who goes about her work with headache, nervousness, bearing down pains and the blues, would remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound remedies the cause of such troubles, work would become a pleasure and life worth living.—Advt.

Woman Mayor Wins Contest.

Topeka, March 17.—Mrs. Ella Wilson, mayor of Hunnewell, Kan., won her long fight against hostile members of the city council when the state supreme court Saturday ousted three councilmen, against whom charges had been filed by Mrs. Wilson. The court held the three down pains and the blues, would remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound remedies the cause of such troubles, work would become a pleasure and life worth living.—Advt.

Free: Sign this ad and take it to the following druggists, and get a 50c cake of Hay's Hair Health and a 25c cake of Hay's Hair Soap free, for 50c; or a $1.00 bottle of Hay's Hair Health and two 25c cakes of Hay's Hair Soap free, for $1.00.

RED CROSS PHARMACY

CERTAINLY ENDS STOMACH MISERY

"Pape's Diapepsin" Cures Heartburn, Gas, Sourness and Indigestion in Five Minutes.

Sour, gassy, upset stomach, indigestion, heartburn, dyspepsia: when the food you eat ferments into gases and stubborn lumps; your head aches and you feel sick and miserable, that's when you realize the magic in Pape's Diapepsin. It makes such misery vanish in five minutes.

If your stomach is in a continuous revolt—if you can't get it regulated, please, for your sake, try Diapepsin. It's needless to have a bad stomach—make your next meal a favorite food meal, then take a little Diapepsin. There will not be any distress—eat without fear. It's because Pape's Diapepsin "really does" regulate weak, out-of-order stomachs that gives it its millions of sales annually.

Get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. It is the quickest, surest stomach relief and cure known. It acts almost like magic—it is a scientific, harmless and pleasant preparation, which truly belongs in every home.—Advt.

CORRUPTION IN ELECTION IS CHARGED

Summonses Were Served In the New Hampshire Senatorial Choice.

Manchester, N. H., March 17.—Deputy sheriffs armed with summonses Saturday, notified several prominent politicians to be present at the legislative hearing today on charges of corruption in the election of Henry F. Hollis to the United States Senate.

The summonses were in charge of Sheriff Fred K. Ramsey, who conducted the "raid" with great secrecy. Sheriff Ramsey is acting under direct orders of Chairman Ezra M. Smith of the House investigating committee.

The investigation by the joint House and Senate committees will begin at Concord today. Since the election of Senator Hollis on the 42d ballot there have been charges of bribery, corruption and unbecoming conduct on the part of a number of legislators and politicians.

House Chairman Smith declares that the probe will be thorough.

CONVICTED OF PERJURY.

Policeman Acted As Bribe Agent In Graft Cases.

New York, March 17.—The first conviction in the district attorney's crusade against grafters in the police department was obtained Saturday afternoon.

Hartigan acted as agent for high police officials to bribe witnesses against them to leave the state.

Hartigan was alluded to by District Attorney Whitman in summing up as "a discarded victim of the 'system,' sentenced to protect one of its pillars."

The prosecutor referred to Dennis Sweeney, the demoted inspector who awaits trial on 13 graft indictments, as the man for whom Hartigan had perjured himself.

"Sweeney is standing like a rock," cried Mr. Whitman, "with the 'system' back of him, declaring to the world that he never took a cent. Sweeney is the man that has put this young policeman where he is. There never was a more perfect picture of the 'system' than you have before you."

Hartigan's lawyer, in summing up, asked the jury to disregard all reference to the "system" on any person's "back" of his client.

"You are trying Hartigan only—not any alleged 'high-ups,'" he declared. Hartigan appeared dazed momentarily by the verdict, which was reached in less than half an hour, but smiled a moment later as his counsel received permission to stand today for an appeal. Hartigan was led to the Tombs.

Friedmann Treats 12.

London, Ont., March 17.—Twelve patients at the public health institute were inoculated Saturday by Dr. Friedrich Friedmann with his tuberculosis vaccine. Nearly 80 had been gathered for the test, but the physician found there was only enough vaccine for the treatment of a dozen. Preference was given to those suffering from tuberculosis of the bones. The demonstration was given in the presence of many London medical men. At the conclusion of the test, Dr. Friedmann left for New York.

Ex-Gov. Black Ill.

Troy, N. Y., March 17.—Former Gov. Frank S. Black is seriously ill at his home here. He has valvular disease of the heart. Mr. Black was born in Livingston, Me., 60 years ago. He maintained a summer home at Freedom, N. H.

MOB ATTACKS SUFFRAGETTES

Some of the Women Are Struck in the Face by Rioters

CLOTHES ARE COVERED WITH MUD

And Hats, Cloaks and Other Clothing Is Torn from Them

London, March 17.—Suffragettes who attempted a Saturday afternoon meeting in Hyde Park were mobbed by a crowd of 10,000. They were pelted with clods of turf, oranges and other missiles, and when the police were escorting them from the scene, the rioters tore off their hats, cloaks and even struck some of the women in the face.

For two hours the park and nearby streets were scenes of wildest disorder. When Mrs. Flora Drummond began to speak from a wagon, youths started a racket with trumpets, mouth organs and bells and there was a bombardment. A clod of turf struck her in the mouth.

She was told to "go home to her children," but spoke half an hour until her clothes were all mud.

A local paper publishes the alleged details of an elaborate suffragette plot to carry off David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, which leaked out through the over-zealous abductors.

EATON INQUEST STARTED

Mysterious Investigation Into Death of Rear Admiral Continued.

Boston, March 17.—In connection with the investigation by District Attorney Barker of Plymouth county and other officials into the death of Rear Admiral Joseph Giles Eaton at his home in Assinippi, Saturday, the 8th, an inquest was begun at Hingham Saturday.

The proceedings were behind closed doors and nothing of the testimony presented was given out.

At the adjournment Saturday night, Judge Pratt would merely acknowledge that an inquest upon the body of Admiral Eaton had begun. District Attorney Barker refused to comment on the events of the day. He said: "An inquest will be held Monday at Hingham and at that time all persons who may have any knowledge of the death or of the cause of the death of Admiral Eaton will be summoned."

Among the witnesses called to the proceedings in Hingham were Miss Dorothy Ainsworth and Mrs. Ralph P. Keyes, who was Miss June Ainsworth's both stepdaughters of the admiral. They had been hurried to the Hingham court room by automobile in charge of State Officer Scott from the Eaton home in Assinippi.

STREET CAR HURLED 50 FEET

Passengers Unhurt When Gas Explodes in Subway Under It.

Boston, March 17.—An electric street car passing through Scollay square late Saturday was lifted from the rails and thrown 50 feet by an explosion of gas in a new subway extension directly under the surface tracks. The street was ripped up for several yards.

Several passengers in the car were shaken up and badly frightened, but the only person requiring medical attendance as a result of the accident was Edgar Ginter, who was walking and was bowled over by the car when it landed on the sidewalk. There were no workmen in the path of the excavation where the explosion occurred.

FAVOR FOR THAW.

Prisoner May Speak Privately With Mother and Counsel.

New York, March 17.—Supreme Justice Joseph Morgenthau Saturday issued an order at Newburg, N. Y., permitting counsel for Harry K. Thaw and Thaw's mother to visit him at the Matteawan asylum and consult with him privately during the hours the rules of the institution permit visitors. The order is but temporary and is in force only until Tuesday, when Justice Tompkins will pass finally on the ruling of the state prison department, which barred Mrs. Thaw and Thaw's counsel from private conferences with the prisoner.

HAZERS FOUND GUILTY

Three North Carolina Students Are Each Given Four Months in Jail.

Hillsboro, N. C., March 17.—The three students of the University of North Carolina, Ralph Oldham, Will Merriman and Aubrey Hatch, were found guilty Saturday afternoon of manslaughter in connection with the death of a fellow student, Will Rand, while the latter was being hanged last September. They were each sentenced to four months in jail.

CROWD AGAIN DISAPPOINTED

Wilson's Worship In Different Church at Washington.

Washington, March 17.—President Wilson and family again escaped stares of the curious and worshipped inconspicuously in the First Presbyterian church.

It is evident the president is to try a dose or more of Presbyterian church within easy reach of the White House before selecting one to attend constantly.

THROBBING HEADS

Headaches that Drive Women Distracted Relieved by DR. GREENE'S NERVURA

Constant headaches will ruin your health. Do not delay. Advice Free, in person or by mail.

597 Albany St., Boston, Mass.

Recipes of Various Kinds.

Fresh Fish Salad—Salads are made Cross Pharmacy.—Advt.

DELICATE TIRED WOMEN.

This is an unnatural condition—a little rest each day and Scott's Emulsion after every meal gives nature the material to restore strength.

Scott's Emulsion is a strength-building, curative food and tonic to overcome weakness and fatigue—contains no alcohol or drug.

It doesn't stupefy the nerves, it feeds them.

Expectant and nursing mothers always need Scott's Emulsion.

Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J. 12-78

Topics of the Home and Household.

To cleanse zinc, use a soft piece of flannel moistened with kerosene. When the spots are of long standing use a little powdered bath brick in addition to the kerosene.

A yellow frosting is made by beating the yolks very lightly and thickening them with fine sugar, as you would the whites. It will take a little longer to harden than if the whites were used.

The contents of the inner vessel of a double boiler will cook much more rapidly if the water in the outer compartment is salted in the proportion of half a cup of salt to two quarts of water.

To make a grandmother's gargle for sore throat, take a half pint of very strong sage tea, two tablespoonsful each of strained honey, common salt and strong vinegar; one rounding teaspoonful of cayenne (pulverized), steeping the cayenne with the sage. Strain, mix and bottle for use, gargling from four to five times daily, according to the severity of the case.

An excellent cure for colds is to cut up a Spanish onion in thin slices and between each layer place brown sugar. The syrup resulting from this is of great value in a heavy cold. To prevent children getting colds on the chest, a banana sliced and covered with cream has been found an excellent thing given each morning in winter.

For those who suffer during the cold weather with overdry hands that get soled continuously, the following remedy is recommended. First wash the hands in warm water and plenty of soap and dry thoroughly; then give them a bath in olive oil, rubbing the oil well into every part of the hands until the skin can hold no more. Finally wipe off the surplus oil with a soft cloth so that the hands are quite dry again. This treatment applied every day or two during the cold weather will be found very beneficial.

Appreciate Your Blessings.

Don't kick because you have to button your wife's waist. Be glad your wife has a waist and don't go to have a wife to button a waist for. Some men's wives' waists who have buttons on to button don't care a continental whether they are buttoned or not. Some men don't have any wives with waists with buttons on to button.—Teague (Texas) Chronicle.

Removing Shine from Cloth.

There are several methods used for removing shine on black cloth, but the best one is to take a piece of new black crinoline and wet it, then lay over the shiny spot. This should be covered with a dry cloth and then be pressed with a very hot iron. If the iron is hot enough it will make the crinoline adhere to the serge. You must pull the former away quickly as you would a plaster, and this will raise the nap of the serge so that it looks dull again. The shine is created by the nap being pressed down so flat, so it will be seen the usual plan of rubbing with a liquid is only a temporary remedy. It removes the gloss, but the nap is still flattened.

The Midwinter Skin.

Among the minor discomforts of the winter season—especially in climates of sudden changes and high winds—the chapping of the face and hands is one of the most annoying. The skin becomes rough, red and generally unsightly, and actually cracking and bleeding sometimes results.

To protect the skin from this irritation, special care should be taken to shield it from too sudden changes of temperature. Don't toast the face and hands before a blazing fire and then go straight out into the cold winds, says Mme. Jeanne La Place, in Woman's World.

After washing the skin in hot water, be sure to rinse it in cooler water, then in very cold water. Dry the skin of hands and face thoroughly.

Don't wash the skin immediately after it has been exposed to the outdoor cold.

Chapping of the lips is frequently the result of moistening them with the tongue in the open air. Keep your lips closed as much as possible while you are in the cold.

Don't wear woolen gloves if you wish to keep the hands smooth.

A liberal amount of cold cream should be used on both face and hands during the winter season. The skin should be thoroughly massaged at night to counteract the effect of the day's exposure, and also before going outdoors for any prolonged period.

Wash the skin at least an hour before you start out; then while still warm, rub in the cream on face, hands and arms. Rub off the surplus cream with a soft cloth, rinse the skin in cold water, and apply powder to remove the "shine."

An automobile veil is a great protection to the face if one is driving or motoring in cold weather. A muff, while a great comfort, is likely to aid chapping, as the hands become too warm, and may be chilled when it is necessary to take them out of the muff. Never keep the hands in the muff while you are indoors.

For catarrh, coughs, colds, and sore throat and all nose and throat misery, use the vapor treatment at night.

Here is a recipe: and then fill it half full of boiling hot water; pour into the water one-half teaspoonful of HYOMEI, hold the cup close to face and breathe the healing, germ-destroying vapor through both nose and throat deep into the lungs.

A bottle of HYOMEI is 50 cents at druggists the world over. The complete outfit, which includes inhaler, costs $1.00. Just breath it—no stomach dosing.

For catarrh, coughs, colds, and sore throat and all nose and throat misery, use the vapor treatment at night.

from fresh materials or from any left overs, as the economy of the maker, and the condition of the pantry may determine. As we have had no fish to produce the left overs in our menu for some days it is supposable that we will select some fine white fish, boil it and when perfectly cold cut into neat slices. On each slice lay a sardine and arrange the fish upon and among crisp lettuce leaves. Prepare a mayonnaise dressing and to a half pint of it stir three sardines rubbed smooth with the back of a fork. Garnish with parsley.

Cheese Pudding—Heat a pint of milk in a double boiler with a tiny pinch of baking soda. As soon as it is warm put in one cupful of bread crumbs and let them soak for ten to fifteen minutes. Beat two eggs light, add these and a tablespoonful of butter to the bread and milk, and then stir in a cupful of grated cheese. Season to taste with salt and red pepper, and turn into a pudding dish. Bake in a quick oven, covered, for fifteen minutes, uncover and brown. It must be eaten as soon as it is done, as it falls very quickly.

Washington Tartlets—For convenience we will have these ready for Saturday's celebration, if wanted for the occasion in menu for either lunch or dinner.

To make these tartlets use one large cupful of seeded, chopped raisins or candied cherries, the juice and grated rind of one lemon. Mix together well, and put some of the mixture on rounds of pie crust from six to seven inches in diameter, fold together from three sides so that the shape will resemble a George Washington. Bake in a quick oven, covered, for fifteen minutes, uncover and brown. It must be eaten as soon as it is done, as it falls very quickly.

Quick Sour Milk Doughnuts—Mix together a pint of sour milk, cupful of granulated sugar and one well-beaten egg. Stir until the sugar is dissolved, then add half cupful of butter, not melted—but or butterine, and enough sifted flour to make a dough which can be rolled easily. Stir in one and a half level tablespoonfuls of soda dissolved in a little warm water. Roll, cut and fry in usual manner. Some like to add a little spice, either cinnamon or nutmegs, or a dash of both.

Date Custard Pie—One-third pound of dates, two cupfuls of milk, two eggs, salt and little nutmeg. Wash and stone the dates and cook with milk twenty minutes in double boiler. Rub through sieve, then add slightly beaten eggs, salt and nutmeg. Bake with one crust.

Cocoanut Pie—Heat a pint of milk and when it boils stir in a cupful of cocoanut and cook ten minutes in a double boiler. Remove from the fire and add four tablespoonfuls of sugar, the beaten yolks of two eggs and two tablespoonfuls of fine cracker crumbs. Pour this in a pie plate lined with a crust and over the top put a teaspoonful of butter cut into small pieces. Bake until done. Whip the whites of eggs to a stiff froth and add two tablespoonfuls of sugar. Spread over the pie and return to oven to brown.

Angel Cake—The following makes a small but very nice angel cake. Beat the whites of four eggs stiff, add one-half teaspoonful cream tartar, beat in one-half cupful of sugar, stir in lightly one-half cupful of bread flour, in which has been sifted one-quarter teaspoonful of salt. Flavor with almond. Sprinkle a little sugar on the top and bake in a moderate oven twenty minutes. Do not grease the tin. When done turn over and it will fall out itself.

Dorothy Dexter.

The "Maid to Order Shop."

In the March Woman's Home Companion appears an article showing how a woman with $100 capital started a business that is yielding her a good income. Her idea was to hire other women to work by the hour in homes. She calls her place of business the "Maid to Order Shop." She wanted that if she hired a woman for twenty cents an hour and received twenty-five cents an hour for her work she could make fifty cents a day on her labor. Therefore, if she kept six women busy each day, she herself would make $3 daily. After an account of how the business was started and how it is operated, the author goes on to say:

"The first day her business was opened for work was a memorable one with her, and at the end of it she had just $2.90 net profit. The shop had to have orders enough each day to amount to forty-two